KELLY BUNCOED

Alleged Heir to an English Uncle's Money Shown to Be a Fraud.

Letter Found Upon Him Notifying Him of His Fortune Was Merely. His Stock In Trade.

HAD CONFEDERATES IN ENGLAND.

How Clever New York Attorneys Were In duced to Part with Their Cash. Kelly, Allas Schoenfeld, Still in the Tombs.

It has been clearly established that Henry F. Kelly, alias Schoenfeld, the alleged helr to an English fortune, now confined in the Tombs on the charge of swindling negroes out of small sums, is nothing more than the ATT American representative of a gang of swindlers organized in a manner well calculated to victimize lawyers.

When Kelly was arrested last Sunday a letter was found in his pocket which purorted to be from his mother. It told him hat he had inherited $500,000 from an ncle and that an English lawyer was on ie way to America with $50,000 of the sum. The letter was written by Kelly's confederates in England, and was so cun-ningly worded as to deceive shrewd people.

Among Kelly's victims was a lawyer with offices in the Mail and Express building. This particular individual prides himself on his ability in handling foreign estates, esecially English estates, so when Kelly produced the letter, said to be from his at SS Walker st., New York.

Anctioneer's office, S34 2d ave. and giving information of the immense egucy left the wayward nephew, the attorney fell luto the trap. His experience ost him a trifle over $300.

when Kelly came to my office. He showed ne a letter, similar to the one found upon m when arrested, which stated he was heir to an immense fortune left by his nucle. Kelly said he wanted my opinion and advice as to how to proceed in the enand advice as to how to proceed in the enforcement of his rights to the inheritence. Of course, the basis of Kelly's claim and the information upon which he said he wanted to proceed, was the letter alleged to have been written to him by his mother.

"I was induced to take his case, and accordingly he was a constant of the history has a constant of the was a constant of the history has a constant of the history has a constant of the was a constant of the history has a constant of the history has a constant of the history cordingly be gave me a power of attorncy.

A contract was also drawn, in which Kelly agree to pay me a fee of $50,000. Upon the strength of this contract and my previous strength of this contract and my previous investigation, 1 was induced to advance Kelly money to the extent of $300. The greater part of this sum was to redeem me Masonic jewels, which Kelly said he had pawned in Newark, N. J., and which he (according to the letter) must have in his possession when Lawyer Sharp from Fronting Central Park West, 74th and 75th sts England should first meet him. I gave him A high class family hotel of quiet legance. e money to get the jewels the day before Lawyer Sharp was supposed to arrive from England bringing the draft for a large sum. The following day, Sunday, Kelly came to my house and told me the English coun-seller had arrived, and that he was to meet im at the Hoffman House the next morning. On the strength of this I was induced to advance Kelly some more money. The following morning I went to the Hoffman House according to appointment, but Kelly was not there, neither was the English at-

"I have never seen Kelly from that day tried to victimize is Lawyer S. I. Franken-stein, of No. 198 Broadway. He got into Mr. Frankenstein's confidence, and the latter admits that he almost caught him.

Attorney Jerome B. Conkling, of No. 123
Liberty street, is another who had the same experience with Kelly. Lawyer Conkling did not jump at the bait, and declined to advance $25, and Kelly went away, observing: "Oh. well, $25 alnt much, and neither is $25,000, when a man has one-fourth of £468,000 coming to him, so I guess they can wait for the emblem."

When Schocafeld, affas Kelly, was arraigned in the Centre Street Folice Court, before Magistrate Crane, yesterday, he was, at the request of Capitain Cross, of the Leonard Street Station, recommitted to the Tombs until Thesday morning.

Capitain Cross stated afterward that he is in possession of many facts about the is in possession of many facts about the is in possession of many facts about the first is remarkable how men of his lik can swindle people." the Capitain said, "but they do it right along."
